

Associate – Design Research (Level 1)

What is Bridgeable?

We are an award-winning strategic design firm whose mission is to bridge the gap between what organizations know and what they do, delivering shared value to our clients and their customers. We strive to increase our profile as service design leaders in order to have the greatest social impact possible.

Bridgeable is a multi-disciplinary team – people who, in a different context, might be known as designers, scientists, futurists or strategy consultants. But at the end of the day, we are all translators. We translate knowledge into action, insight into strategy, and strategy into tactics.

What are we looking for?

Our team is currently seeking an Associate, Design Research (Level 1). You will be part of a diverse team including experts in strategy, research, and design disciplines. Your core competency is your ability to convert data into insights that inspire design solutions. Working mainly on client-facing projects, your research will contribute to redesigning services and experiences that create shared value for our clients and those that they serve. You will bring a positive, fearless attitude to your work, with a drive to be relentlessly useful, and a thirst for professional and personal development. Some of the responsibilities involved for your role are:

- Collaborating with a multidisciplinary team focused on creating better experiences for users across different services and industries, including financial, telco, and public sector
- Designing and conducting qualitative and quantitative research studies that elicit candid feedback from stakeholders and inspire participation
- Using the wide range of research approaches in your toolkit, including but not limited to: ethnographic studies, observation, focus groups, in-depth interviews, diaries/probes, co-creation, validation, usability/task analysis, desk research, trend scanning, etc.
- Assist with the facilitation of generative workshops and co-creation sessions, with both end-users/customers and client participants
- Analyzing qualitative and quantitative data from primary research – and existing/secondary sources – and identifying patterns for further study
- Identify themes and coding research for data analysis and synthesis
- Synthesizing multiple data sources and insights into concise communication artefacts that tell a clear story about the biggest implications for the client (for example PowerPoint decks, including audio and video files)

What are the Key Qualifications?

You have:

- An undergraduate degree or higher in a pertinent field
- 2-3 years of relevant work experience (consulting/agency experience working directly with clients considered an asset)
- Proven on-the-job experience with:
 - designing and conducting ethnographic, qualitative or design research
 - analyzing and synthesizing diverse data into actionable findings with a clear ‘so what’

- helping translate both primary and secondary research findings into artefacts that support ideation and concrete solutions
- cross-functional collaboration with teammates with diverse backgrounds and skillsets

You are:

- An excellent storyteller and communicator (written, verbal, and visual)
- A student of human behaviour that can find patterns and understand the “why”
- Someone who is entrepreneurial, proactive, and takes initiative – if a “standard process” doesn’t exist, you’re happy to build one!
- Computer savvy and advanced in MS Word, Excel, and PowerPoint. Proficiency in Adobe Suite and/or SPSS (or similar software) considered an asset.

You love:

- Contributing to a fast-paced, entrepreneurial environment and working on big, complex challenges
- Discovering new, emerging research and design methods and adapting them to meet client project goals
